Even in the cluttered field of blues-inspired sirens, Haley Johnsen is not to be mistaken as just another one of the girls. For the ASIT measurements, the latter is directly available from the measurements and averaged over 20 min intervals, while the former Wave to the Wind calculated based on the Clausius-Clapeyron relation, employing the relative humidity and the pressure. Wave conditions vary considerably from site to site, depending mainly on the wind climate and on the type of water area. AuthorTitleAbstractFulltext.Their work reveals that these waves, and the winds that generate them, are increasing in magnitude and have been doing so for the last 30 years on a global scale.
